Think of an incident during which you could have acted to make a difference, but decided not to act. Write the answers to the following questions about that incident.

1. What could you have done that you didn’t do?
2. What difference(s) might your actions have made?
3. What happened as a result of your inaction?
4. How did you feel after the incident due to your inaction?
   Does your inaction bother you?